

A HERO OF OUR TIME

2023, Turkey, Drame / Satire, 120 min

Quietly selfish, full of grandiose dreams, and fundamentally cold and insensitive toward those around him, Mert is an immature man in his early-30s who resides in a middle-class neighborhood in Istanbul. When he has to deal with his father's funeral preparations in a small town surrounded by tea plantations in the hills of northeastern Turkey, he finds himself trapped in the discrepancy between the world he has selfishly dreamed of and the world in which he actually lives. During the three days in the town, as he ignores every problem that he encounters, he can't really help facing painful, tragic, and tragicomic experiences which lead him to go through inevitable moments of an instant and intense growing-up story while he discovers that the already existing cracks in his life are growing wider and deeper by the hour.

PRODUCER / DIRECTOR STATEMENT

Inspired by Lermontov's infamous anti-hero Pechorin, A Hero of Our Time presents a negative generational portrait that embodies many of the vices and flaws of our time within a single character in contemporary Anatolia. Our film was shot in a small town in the northeast of Turkey, home to our production company and the Laz People, an indigenous ethnic group of the Caucasus. We had the privilege to collaborate with a combined team of local talents and experienced film professionals throughout the entire production process, from development to post-production. Most of our crew and cast have been a close-knit team, much like a theater troupe, that has been making short films together for over a decade, and now, we are excited to bring our first feature film to the screen. The film features 32 static one-take scenes that were created using a technique that draws the audience's attention to the off-screen space, where some actions take place in an unseen setting. I believe this approach encourages the viewers to mentally construct an imagined space and piece clues together to develop a narrative as the film progresses. Having experimented with this method in my short films, I have tried to explore a subtle and interactive cinema language, and I am now excited to present a refined version of it in this feature film.

ABOUT THE PRODUCER / DIRECTOR

Miraç Atabey (1989, Rize, Turkey) is a director, screenwriter, and producer who graduated from the Doc Nomads Master's Programme in documentary filmmaking, held in Lisbon, Budapest, and Brussels. His short film trilogy, consisting of Stove (2012), Downtown (2014), and Yard (2018), has received recognition on the film festival circuit, with the final installment premiering at Rotterdam Film Festival. His debut feature film, A Hero of Our Time (2023), showcases a refined version of his observational visual style and interactive cinema language, characterized by uninterrupted scenes with lengthy acting performances. He was also a participant in Talents Sarajevo 2017.
